Acheson And McGranery Named As Probe Stallers

... Kelly Says Interference Tried

WASHINGTON (INS)—The foreman of a New York Grand Jury which probed U.S. Communists in the United Nations charged Monday that Secretary of State Acheson and Attorney General McGranery sought to interfere with the investigation.

The witness, Joseph P. Kelly, told a House subcommittee he was informed that Acheson opposed the jury's report blasting the presence of U.S. Reds on the U.N. payroll and that McGranery attempted to delay the presentation.

(Meanwhile, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), said that as chief investigator in the GOP Senate he will "force" Acheson and the secretary of state's top security officer, Carlisle H. Humelsine, to tell who cleared disloyal Americans for UN jobs. At the same time, Sen. O'Connor (D-Md.), demanded immediate action by Acheson to rid the world organization of untrustworthy U.S. citizens.)

Earlier, two other jury members, Charles Harsanyi and Joseph Cahill, accused U.S. Attorney Myles Lane of New York of seeking to "frighten" the jurors and said a State Department official withheld vital information.

Cahill also testified that the jury had learned a member of Congress once recommended for U.S. government jobs "four or five" persons who later turned up as alleged subversives on the U.N. payroll.

He refused to identify the congressman, saying the Legislature might have been an "unwitting tool" and that "I wouldn't want to defame someone's character on a flimsy thought."

Kelly disagreed with the charge that "fright" tactics were used, but said he believed there was "jealousy" between Lane and Roy Cohn, former Assistant U.S. Attorney in New York and now special assistant to the Attorney General assigned to the internal security branch.

Cahill praised Cohn, who was Lane's associate in the Grand Jury probe. He said "Cohn was with us 100 per cent all the time and didn't care what Lane wanted."

Kelly said that at one point in the probe Lane accused Cohn of "siding against his own Justice Department."

In New York, Lane heatedly denied charges that he sought to obstruct the inquiry and said the concluding section of the Grand Jury report lauded him for "support and effective cooperation."

In response to a question by Rep. Hillings (R-Calif.), Kelly said he believed both Acheson and McGranery opposed the report, which condemned employment of American Reds in the United States.

30 Stolen Letters Recovered In Theft Of Mail At Omaha

OMAHA (AP)—A bundle of 30 stolen letters was discovered in the men's restroom of a cafeteria here Monday night, giving a new twist to Omaha stolen mail case.

Return addresses on the envelopes indicate they probably came from the Karbach Block on South 15th Street and the Securities Building, 16th and Barnum streets.

Thieves Saturday made a haul of letters from the Aquila Court Building and the First National Bank.

The letters recovered Monday were outgoing mail. Part of them had not been opened, but those which had been held checks totaling $4,410.44. The largest was a check for $4,071.05 on the First National Bank of Chicago.

Holidays' Road Death Record Set

By The Associated Press

An all-time record of 556 traffic deaths during a holiday observance was set during the nation's long Christmas week-end. Delayed reports of deaths occurring in the 102-hour period between 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and midnight Sunday pushed the toll one over the previous mark of 555 set during the 1936 Christmas holiday period.

Deaths from all types of accidents during the 1952 Christmas week-end reached 744. Of these, 82 were from fires. The other 106 persons died in all other types of accidents, including falls, gunshots, railroad and mine mishaps, drownings and electrocutions.

The over-all toll was not a record.

Highest Record

The belated reports came late Monday when Texas figures were revised upwards giving that state an over-all toll of 81—highest among the states. Traffic accidents took 43 lives in Texas during the survey period.

Ohio was second in the traffic toll, with 45, but the over-all toll for Ohio was 50—under New York's 60. The New York state traffic toll was 43.

The traffic fatality record was actually less than the 590 deaths which the National Safety Council had estimated for the Christmas holiday.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, expressed the hope that the record Christmas death toll will inspire caution during the New Year holiday. He said: "The New Year traffic toll can be held to half of the Christmas toll if each of us will drive as if our life depended on it—and, believe me, it does."

Moberg, Escapee From County Jail, Reported In City

Charles Moberg, escapee from the Lancaster County Jail last Oct. 24, was reported in Lincoln over the week-end, according to County Sheriff Merle Karnopp.

County authorities are investigating Moberg's visit with the hope of getting some lead to his whereabouts.

Moberg was being held on a charge of statutory rape at the time of his escape. He was missed from the jail at the same time as Jack Arlen, who has since been recaptured and sentenced for escape.

State Hospital 2-Day Carnival Gets Under Way

A two-day Christmas carnival started Monday in the auditorium of Lincoln State hospital as recreation for ambulatory patients. Prizes were awarded the lucky ones at the various booths and the two-hour session ended with hamburgers and coffee for all.

It was a typical carnival scene with the aroma of hot popcorn and sizzling hamburgers to add to the realism. Fishing ponds, dice games, fortune tellers and free kisses were among the attractions.

The general arrangements were under the supervision of Mrs. Breckenridge, recreation director, with the art therapy department aiding in painting signs for the booths and all other departments of the hospital joining in to help make the event a success.

Judge To Hear Attorney Fee Application

District Judge Emerson Kojker of Wahoo will hear Tuesday an application for attorney's fees in the Fred Ebke case which proved the unconstitutionality of the automatic school lands lease renewal.

Paul W. White, newly-elected Lancaster District Judge, was the attorney for Ebke. The state in behalf of Ebke filed an application asking the court to determine the amount for attorney's fees. The application names as defendants the Board of Educational Lands and Funds, Henry H. Bartling, board secretary, Edward Gillette, state treasurer, Clarence Beck, attorney general, and Ramey C. Whitney.

District Judge Harry A. Spencer disqualified the case as White is now an associate on the Lancaster bench. Chief Justice Robert G. Simmons of the State Supreme Court appointed Judge Kojker to hear the application.

The Attorney General's office filed an objection to the application charging that the sale of leases at public auction was not a direct result of the Ebke litigation, that the setting of fees charged to the Board of Educational Lands and Funds is not within the jurisdiction of the court, and that Ebke acted for his personal benefit.

The application states that as a result of the Ebke case, the school fund has been increased by $4,000,000.

Crackdown Starts For Disregarding Warrants

Police Will Be Dispatched To Bring Traffic, Parking Violators To Court

Cruiser cars from the Lincoln Police Department will be dispatched Tuesday morning to pick up an as yet undetermined number of parking and traffic violators who have consistently disregarded warrants for their appearance in court.

According to Inspector J. Paul Shively of the Traffic Division, the worst offenders "will be brought into the court" to answer complaints registered against them.

The inspector said that if bringing the offenders directly into court did not work, they would be lodged in jail until court appearance is possible.

Police Chief Joe Carroll said the Police Department is "forced to exercise their authority to bring a person before the court."

The chief, noting that the Department doesn't derive "a dime" from the warrants or the court costs, said he feels "we've been too lenient in granting continuances" for court appearances.

City Prosecutor Jack Pace said the number of violators who refuse to show up in court has been increasing. Pace outlined the following procedure followed with parking or traffic violators:

1. The violator is given a date before which he must either show up in court or (in case of parking tickets) pay for the violation.

2. After the assigned court date, a week's continuance is automatically granted and a letter sent to the violator.

3. After the week of continuance, a warrant is issued requiring the person to appear personally before the court.

On previous occasions, the department has tried to show some leniency in requiring the violators to accompany the server of the warrant back to the police station, where the violator could be lodged in jail or taken before the judge for arraignment.

However, officials of the Department have noted a growing trend for violators to refuse to honor the warrant. The warrants state that the server should bring the defendant before the court, and warrants are signed by the judge.

Rollin Bailey, assistant county attorney, says the lenient policy followed heretofore by the Police Department is not shared by the county attorney's office. He said anyone issued a state warrant is told to put on a coat and get ready for a ride.

City violators who are served a warrant by a member of the Police Department must pay additional costs of $1.10 because of the warrant. However, if the warrant is served by Jack Reiter, Municipal Court constable, the cost is one dollar for making an arrest plus 12 cents a mile in mileage fees for the constable, and besides court costs.

'Reds Made 5 Times As Many Airplanes As U.S.' Says General

25,000 Yule Trees Soon To Head For Dump

Approximately 25,000 Christmas trees, some with bits of tinsel still clinging to their branches, will soon be headed for Lincoln's city dump.

The National Safety Council has warned families to "dispose of your Christmas tree by New Year's Day. After about a week in a warm room, the tree increasingly becomes a fire hazard."

Several thousand unused trees, representing the surplus of Lincoln dealers, will also be added to the pile representing an estimated $35,000 that Lincoln families spent for Christmas trees this year.

The Christmas tree business is purely a speculative one: the day after Christmas you can't even give them away, said one Lincoln dealer, who is paying to have his surplus carted off.

A spot survey revealed that percentages of unsold trees ranged from two to as high as 33 per cent—that latter figure was given by a dealer who admitted that "my guess wasn't too good this year."

Several dealers agreed that 2,000 trees were "the best number to handle." Beyond that number the gamble increases rapidly. Some dealers caught with early surpluses, were advertising cut-prices as early as a week before Christmas.

"I never saw so many trees in Lincoln as this Christmas," said another dealer who figured "quite a few persons took it on the chin this year. I know I did."

Light Snow, Colder Weather Seen For State Wednesday

Above-freezing temperatures, expected to peak near 40 Tuesday, should do away with part of Nebraska's week-long snow cover.

But perhaps not for long. The Weather Bureau has predicted cloudy, windy and colder weather for Wednesday, with a few light snow flurries. Tuesday it will be generally fair over the entire state.

In Lincoln there was some thawing Monday, but as temperatures skidded early Monday evening driving became even more hazardous in the city as a thin coat of ice covered the pavement.

Hal Bauer Named By Young Adult Council

Five members at large were also elected. They are: Robert McDonough; Irvin Yohn; Carlos Carls; Wayne Schofield; and Rev. Walter Calhoun.

Lincolmites Can Celebrate Arrival Of New Year Cheaply And Cheerfully

Lincolmites planning a cheerful welcome for 1953 New Year's Eve, will not need to spend so much money as many nightclubbers throughout the country.

What it will cost a Lincoln couple to go nightclubbing this particular evening—and early reservations indicate that there are many with such plans—will be somewhat less than their counterparts in New York, Los Angeles or Kansas City.

While escorts will pay a sum from $31.95 per person in some choice Hollywood spots, $27.50 in New York's well known clubs, $6.10 to $15.50 in Chicago's pricier clubs, $10 to $12 in Boston or $6.50 to $12.50 in Kansas City, night Dec. 31.

Lincoln men will be getting off comparatively easy.

For the average "package tickets" here is $5 to $6 per person. The flat rate includes the meal, dancing, entertainment, favors and noisemakers.

And in Lincoln, as in other cities or villages, there are dozens of smaller places to drop in simply for a few minutes to yell "Happy New Year" at the appropriate time.

Although a few places will close at regular hours, some will remain open all evening in line with a Lancaster County Board of Commissioners ruling permitting roadhouses, dine and dance spots and dance halls to stay open all night Dec. 31.

Vandenberg Claims 'Even Today Russia May Be Bettering Our Aircraft Output'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, said Monday Soviet Russia has produced five times as many planes as the United States during the last five years.

Declaring that any cutback in U.S. plane production could be "catastrophic," Vandenberg said:

"Even today the Russians are equaling our output, or perhaps bettering it."

Vandenberg expressed his views in an article written for Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Association.

The U. S. Air Force chief said that with the atomic bomb now in the possession of the Soviet Union, "we are entering a period of increased tension and, in some parts of the world, of acute crisis."

Deploping what he called the American "holiday" in plane production during the postwar years, prior to the outbreak of the Korean War in mid-1950, Vandenberg said:

Air Power Goals

"We must meet our air power goals if we are to have the strength to counter the threat against our national security and the peace of the world."

"The goals can be lowered no further. We dare not postpone the date of their attainment."

Vandenberg's call for full speed ahead in aircraft production came in the face of growing reports that the incoming Republican administration and the new GOP-controlled 83rd Congress may seek to trim military spending in the drive to cut over-all federal expenditures.

Vandenberg said that in the 29 months since the United States began its air buildup, the program to create a 143-wing Air Force has attained only the halfway mark.

Commendable Record

More than half the Air Force's planes, he said, are obsolescent. Vandenberg said that during the current buildup, the aircraft industry has delivered some 15,000 planes of all types to the armed services. He said this was "a commendable record, attained under trying semi-mobilization conditions which frequently hampered production."

Vandenberg said Russia's numerical superiority in plane production stems directly from the postwar years when U. S. air power declined "while the nation depended for security upon its shortlived atomic monopoly."

"During these years," he said, "while America took a holiday, the Soviets continued military spending at a rate which was 55 per cent of their wartime peak."

By contrast, he said, the United States cut the rate of its defense spending to 15 per cent of what it had been in World War II.

Vandenberg said that while the United States record to maintain "an insufficient force at a cut-rate price," the Soviets "raced forward in developing advanced military aircraft, expanding plane production facilities, and turning out the thousands of modern jets which now equip the Red Air Force."

Decision On Curbs Is Hinted

—Ike Parley—
GOP Senate Leaders,
Eisenhower To Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—The fate of wage and price controls may hinge on talks Tuesday between President-elect Eisenhower and Republican Senate leaders.

Controls are due to expire April 30. Eisenhower can seek to have them extended or to let them die. He hasn't tipped his hand yet, although he said in his campaign he favors junking them as soon as feasible.

An informed source said the general has asked a group of advisers to study the whole matter and give him the benefit of their views. This source, declining use of his name, added the group still is up in the air without even a preliminary recommendation.

Eisenhower talked over his legislative program with GOP House leaders last Dec. 18. He does the same thing at Tuesday's luncheon with Republican Senate leaders, including Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Taft said Monday he expects price-wage controls to be discussed, although he added:

"The general will bring up the subjects he will discuss."

Another topic presumably on the agenda with the men who will help guide the Eisenhower program through the Senate is last week's announcement by Premier Stalin that he is favorably disposed to confer with Eisenhower.

Ike Names Cutler As A Top Aid

President-Elect Confers
On Economic Problems

NEW YORK (INS)—President-elect Eisenhower Monday held an important conference on world economic problems, and picked another top White House aid.

Eisenhower named Boston banker and Attorney Robert Cutler to be a White House administrative assistant with the special task of co-ordinating the work of the executive branch with the National Security Council.

The 57-year-old Cutler, president of the Old Colony Trust Co., served during World War II as a special assistant to Secretary of War Stimson with the rank of Brigadier-General. An old friend of the general, he traveled with Ike during that campaign.

Hoffman, McCloy Present

Eisenhower discussed "international economic problems" in general at a luncheon conference with former Marshall plan Chief Paul G. Hoffman and John J. McCloy, former U. S. high commissioner in Germany. Also present at the meeting were Cutler and Milton Katz, former special U. S. representative in Europe for the Marshall plan.

Hoffman said the discussions covered European and Asian economic problems as well as the Middle East.

The former head of the foreign aid program said that Gen. Eisenhower is concerned about the problem of building up Europe's economy until it becomes self-sufficient.

But he emphasized that the President-elect's concern was "global" and not restricted to Europe or any other part of the world.

Three Injured In One-Car Accident

A slick patch of ice on Highway 34 early Monday morning was given as the cause of a one-car accident in which a mother and her two daughters suffered painful injuries.

The mother, Mrs. Dolores Miller, 30, of Miamisburg, O., suffered fractures of both collar bones and is being held for further examination at Bryan Memorial Hospital. The two daughters, Carol, 3, and Rita, eight months, were released after treatment.

The accident occurred 10 miles east of Lincoln on the highway. The father, Raymond H. Miller, 30, driver of the car, was not injured. According to Safety Patrolman B. A. Moleky, the car rolled once before coming to a halt.

Modern Mathematics Said More Than Learning Axioms

That modern mathematics includes a great deal more than learning axioms, theorems and formulas is apparent from the exhibits of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics which is holding its 13th Christmas meeting at the Lincoln Hotel this week.

For example, the large Christmas tree in the hotel lobby is decorated with eye-catching silver ornaments—products of Miss Josephine Wagner's geometry students at Washington High School in Sioux Falls, S.D. The shiny decorations are geometrical figures made of mechanical drawing paper painted with aluminum silver and sprinkled with tinsel.

Miss Wagner's classes have been making the ornaments for about 10 years, and she says the students use their own ideas.

Besides the tree, there are descriptions of safety campaigns—taught the mathematical way, Christmas cards and decorations, graphs, charts and work trays among the displays illustrating the practical uses and teaching methods of mathematics today.

The displays are part of the meeting's theme, "Mathematics Appropriate for Students Today," explains Council President John R. Mayor of the University of Wisconsin, who will preside at the first general meeting Tuesday morning.

He says the sessions and discussions throughout the meeting will emphasize ways to develop the mathematics curriculum to fit the individual student's need. High school students have a variety of interests, he explained, and mathematics may contribute in some way to the interests of all of them.

Taft-Hartley Provision Wins Test

Judge Rules Injunction Clause Constitutional

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The injunction provision of the controversial Taft-Hartley Act met its first head-on court test Monday and a federal judge declared the clause constitutional.

District Judge John Knight granted the government an 80-day injunction restraining the CIO United Steelworkers from continuing a strike at the American Locomotive Company plant at Dunkirk.

In Washington, CIO Assistant General Counsel David E. Feller said the CIO will file an appeal with the New York Court of Appeals Tuesday.

"The strike, in effect, is a strike against the government," Knight said. He held that his court had jurisdiction for that reason.

The approximately 1,500 workers at Dunkirk make nickel-plated pipe that the Atomic Energy Commission says is vital to its program.

Knight said that "delay in the construction of these materials, caused by the Dunkirk strike, means a loss in the production of atomic weapons."

He added, "While technically not at war, existing conditions in Korea are tantamount to war."

The Dunkirk workers, back Aug. 29 but returned Dec. 12 when Knight issued a temporary injunction under the Taft-Hartley Act.

Independent

The CIO had contended that the provision was unconstitutional because it gave the courts power over the administration of government.

About this, Knight said: "The court proceedings are independent of the administrative procedure."

The union demanded a 26-cent hourly increase when it struck. Aco's last public offer was 12½ cents. The scales before the strike ranged from $1.21 to $2.01 an hour.

—Nevada Lawsuit— 'No Check' Is Given McCarran

Senator Testifies
In Conspiracy Case

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) testified Monday that when he visited the plush hotels of Las Vegas his expenses were "on the house."

The chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee and its powerful internal security subcommittee denied emphatically, however, that the hotel owners ever gave him cash.

McCarran said he often stayed at the luxury hotels as the Thunderbird, El Cortez, and Flamingo, some of whose rooms rent for $15 to $18 a day. He declared that when he checked out and asked for his hotel bill, he was told "no check."

The senator's testimony was given at a pre-trial deposition. McCarran is a defendant, along with some 50 others including some hotel owners, in a million dollar lawsuit charging conspiracy to deprive the Las Vegas Sun of advertising because the newspaper criticized the senator.

Motion Filed

McCarran has filed a motion that he be eliminated as a defendant from the suit, which is scheduled to come to trial in Nevada Feb. 4. The deposition will be used by Federal Judge Roger Foley in deciding whether to grant the motion.

The 75-year-old senator was questioned by William A. Roberts, attorney for the Las Vegas newspaper, in the office of McCarran's counsel, William Leahy.

Leahy objected when Roberts questioned the senator about his selection of James Johnson as U. S. attorney for Nevada. The senator's counsel protested that the resignation of former U. S. Attorney Miles Pike and his replacement by Johnson had nothing to do with the lawsuit.

McCarran denied, however, that he had demanded that Pike resign. On the contrary, he said, "I begged him not to."

'Churchill Angered By U.S. Plan'

Iranian Oil Proposal Is Said Reason For Visit

By DREW PEARSON

The inside fact about Winston Churchill's sudden decision to see Eisenhower is that he tried to make a similar announcement 10 days ago, but Foreign Minister Anthony Eden wouldn't let him.

At that time, Eden and Secretary of State Dean Acheson had been battling in Paris over the dynamite-laden question of Iran. Churchill was so sore over certain American proposals regarding Iran that he tried to telephone his old friend, Bernard Baruch, with a view to coming to New York before Christmas and seeing Eisenhower then.

What happened then was that Paul Nitze of the State Department had been sent to London to propose a compromise with Premier Mohammed Mossadegh. The situation in Iran has degenerated from bad to worse, until the northern area is so dominated by the Tudeh Party that Communist infiltration or even overthrow could come at almost any time—unless the economic situation improves immediately.

The State Department, therefore, proposed the following compromise between Iran and Great Britain:

1. Twenty million tons of Iranian oil to be sold to the major oil companies with immediate payment to Iran. This oil was refined by the British and is stored in Iran as British property. It has not been marketed because of British threats against any oil company handling its distribution.

2. A loan to Iran by the World Bank of $500,000,000 in order to repay Britain for its Abadan refinery. The loan would be repaid by the World Bank from future sales of oil.

3. A certain amount of economic aid to Iran by the United States under the ECA and Point 4 programs.

This proposal was not only discussed by Nitze in London but between Secretary of State Acheson and Foreign Minister Eden in Paris. The British had no objection to American aid to Iran but they did object vigorously to the basis of the proposed agreement on the basis that it would be a violation of contract.

If the contract with Iran was violated, Eden argued, and the Iranians were able to take over the Abadan refinery through virtual seizure, then other contracts throughout Asia would collapse—Kowloon, opposite Hong Kong; Egypt, the Malays and the near East.

Eden told Acheson that under no circumstances would Great Britain abandon the principle of international arbitration, pointing out that England had proposed arbitration by the World Court only to be rebuffed by Mossadegh. When word of these discussions reached Churchill himself, he hit the ceiling.

He was so sore that he wanted to send a personal cablegram to President Truman and leave immediately for New York for a conference with Eisenhower. Anthony Eden had to rush back across the channel to London to dissuade him.

Churchill argued that agreements such as the State Department proposed were playing into the hands of Moscow and its new line of dividing the United States and Great Britain.

In the end, Eden calmed Churchill down. But when Churchill heard that General MacArthur had proposed to Eisenhower use of the Atomic Bomb in Manchuria; and when on top of this the New York Times interview indicated a possible conference between Eisenhower and Stalin, he could be restrained no longer. He decided to come to New York regardless of Eden.

Note: Churchill does not plan to visit Washington and President Truman.

Legion-Listed Books 'All Fine, But Outdated'

The textbooks on the Orient, which the American Legion has listed as the list of "all fine, reputable books" but outdated.

None of the books, explained a member of the University of Nebraska history department, are appropriate to the course in question (current history) because the course is one in which the time begins with the post war period.

He added that the books were "very good" for a survey course and background.

The books also cover too limited an area, the university professor said, except one which is a geographical work.

Joseph J. Vinardi, state chairman of the Legion's Americanism Committee, said the list of "State of Asia" is not the only text available on the Orient.

Vinardi recently denounced use of "State of Asia" by the University of Nebraska. The book was written by Lawrence K. Rosinger with help from Owen Latimore. It was issued under auspices of the American Institute of Pacific Relations.

Vinardi said the Legion's list of textbooks on Asia, compiled by an Omaha history professor, included:

"History of the Far East," by Kenneth Katoquette; "Asia's Lands and People," by George Cressy; "History of the Far East in Modern Times," by Harold Vinacke.

"The Far East and International Relations," by McNair and Lach; "Voices from Unoccupied China," by McNair.

"Japan, Past and Present" and "United States and Japan," by Edwin Reischauer; "Far Eastern War, 1937-1941," and "Japanese Government and Politics," by Harold Quigley.

Allied Artillery Plasters West Attack By Reds

SEOUL (Tuesday) (INS)—Allied artillery early today smashed a vicious 200-man Chinese Communist attack on the west Korean front and inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy.

In the air war during the night, 11 American B-29 Superforts returned to the North Korean capital area for the second successive day and blasted a 95-acre troop area at Taegam, north of Pyongyang.

The Chinese ground attack on the west-central front forced Allied troops temporarily from one of their outposts but they recovered the position after a three-and-one-half hour clash.

Allied officers estimated that 130 enemy soldiers were killed or wounded in the battle.

In the air strike, the B-29s used radar to find the Taegam target through an overcast. It was the first time that Taegam had been hit by the American Superforts. The target included 100 enemy buildings.

The enemy ground attack on the west-central front started last night in the wake of a heavy artillery barrage that churned up snow-covered Allied positions on Bunker Hill on the western front.

Senate Group Asks Ban Against Reds In Labor

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee Monday urged tighter laws against the Communists in organized labor and asked authority for employers to fire workers who belong to Red fronts.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) backed the House Un-American Activities call for action to purge unions of Red leaders.

The Internal Security group called for legislation which would bar Communists from becoming union officials and would allow the dismissal of Red-sympathizers by their bosses. McCarran introduced a bill that would accomplish both these ends in the last Congress.

The McCarran subcommittee's recommendations were made on the basis of its inquiry into the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, expelled from the CIO in 1950 on charges that it followed the Communist party line.

Red Influence

McCarran declared in a statement accompanying the report that "loyal" members of the union should "protect their sons and daughters in the armed services."

Legality Of New Plan In Question

After hours of lively debate, the City Council agreed upon a pool of seven city cars for use by nine city employees.

Establishment of the pool, however, is still of doubtful legality. The pool, recommended by the Council car pool committee, includes city water and light department cars for use by other city employees.

According to City Attorney C. Russell Mattson, the city charter specifically provides that all water and light department revenues be used for departmental purposes. Whether or not equipment purchased for those purposes can be used in another manner, said Mattson, is a question needing further exploration.

Abolishment Talked

While the pool established continues the jobs of the water department bill collector and light department new business solicitor, there was some earlier discussion relative to abolishing those two positions. That action, however, was considered unwise by John Kruse, department business manager.

Councilman Clark Jeary, car pool committee chairman, suggested the two jobs be dissolved. Jeary argued that the city light department was supposed to act as a rate regulator on the other public electric utility in the city and as such was not primarily a profit making business and needed no collector.

He also argued that a more stringent policy in regard to shutting off water to delinquent bill payers would solve more than 90 per cent of the problems in that department, thus eliminating the need of a bill collector. Those people who consistently fail to pay their bills, he said, would begin to pay up if they knew their water would be shut off.

Business Basis

Kruse stated that while Jeary may be right, such customers would drop city light department service out of spite. The department, he argued, must be run as a business to be a successful regulator and therefore cannot afford to lose customers.

According to Kruse, the collector works to bring in about $5,000 in unpaid water bills every three months and $7,000 on unpaid light bills every month. That is about 5 per cent of the total revenue, he said.

According to Mayor Victor E. Anderson, the usual collection average is about 4 of the 5 per cent. Anderson also agreed with Kruse that the water and light department are "businesses."

On the matter of water bill collections only, Kruse reminded the Council an audit of the water department "several years ago" showed the department was supplying free water due to the lack of a good collection system.

The pool as now established received unanimous Council approval after Mayor Anderson led a losing fight to purchase a new car for the city assessor. Anderson, supported in the voting by Councilman Chauncey W. D. Kinsey, stated that much valuable time has already been lost by the assessor and that he must now be assured of a car.

Councilman Pat Ash stated, however, that there was nothing to stop the assessor from getting a car from the seven-car pool.

In addition to the seven persons now using the pooled cars, it is planned the cars will be used by the assessor and the city purchasing agent.

The cars will be headquartered at the Police Department garage with parking space provided to the south of the garage. In charge of the pool will be Personnel Director Ray Ramsay, assisted by various members of the Police Department.

Can Be Expanded

Ramsay will also have the power to call other city cars into the pool if he deems it necessary. Also, if advisable, the cars will be available to any city employee, not just the nine persons originally involved.

Persons who originally had use of the seven cars will be charged with the care of the cars at night and will turn them into the pool every morning.

The pool will go into operation Dec. 31. The first operational report is to be submitted by the manager to the City Council on Jan. 12.

Cars included in the pool besides those previously assigned to the water and light department collector and solicitor are the cars used by the chief assistant to the superintendent of the water department, an assistant city engineer, a water department engineer, a city engineer and the city property department.

Mayor Anderson fought the establishment of the pool on the grounds that such a partial pool would not work. He said he favored a pool of all city cars and suggested the committee continue working to investigate the possibility of building a garage behind the Police Department to house a full city car pool.

Nebraska Egg Industry To Be Honored; Hill Heads Planners

A part of Nebraska's $85 million poultry business will be honored with observance of January as Egg Month in Nebraska.

Heading the committee making arrangements for Egg Month will be Roscoe Hill, Lincoln. Also serving on the state committee will be P. E. Mussehl, chairman, poultry department, College of Agriculture, University of Nebraska.

Other members of the committee are: L. E. Kavan, secretary, Federation of Nebraska Retailers, Omaha; Sam Poska, secretary, Lincoln Food Retailers, Lincoln; Tom Hickey, Nebraska Farmer, Lincoln; Charles Sawin, C. A. Swanson & Sons, Omaha.

Doyle Free, secretary Nebraska Poultry Improvement Association, Agriculture College, Lincoln.

George Round, Public Relations department, College of Agriculture, Lincoln.

Paul Clayton, Marketing Specialist Agricultural Economics, Agriculture College, Lincoln.

Florence Atwood, Home Extension Department, Agriculture College, Lincoln.

Robert Johnson, Fairmont Foods Company, Omaha.

H. C. Sheridan, Omaha Cold Storage Company, Omaha.

Howard Elm, Nebraska Feed Dealers Association, Lincoln.

Charles Marshall, president, Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, Lincoln.

Chris Miller, president, Farmers Union, Omaha.

Dr. H. C. Filler, president, State Grange, Lincoln.

As pointed out by Prof. Mussehl, poultry products, chickens, turkeys and eggs, rank fourth in farm income in Nebraska. They bring an annual farm revenue of $85 million, he said.

Of Nebraska's total egg production, said Prof. Mussehl, 60 per cent is shipped outside the state to California, Texas and elsewhere.

In proclaiming Egg Month, the City Council has accepted a proposal from Nebraska Public Pension System for a temporary extension of the city's purchasing contract with NPPS to March 31, 1953.

The original contract for city purchase of System electrical power expired last August. With a rate dispute between the two groups unsettled, the contract was extended to Dec. 31, 1952.

The rate dispute has been taken into court with the League of Nebraska Municipalities seeking consolidated billing from NPPS of all power purchased by Lincoln and seven other League members.

Consultant Called In

In an effort to settle the dispute, NPPS has, according to Devoey, called in an independent rate consultant "to determine the adequacy of the rates being charged various classifications of customers."

DeBoer wrote the Lincoln City Council that the extended contract was requested to assure Lincoln continued uninterrupted service while NPPS completes its study of the rate consultant's report.

It is expected from some quarters in the League that if the NPPS rate study would warrant it, the System would give consolidated billing or an equivalent rate without court action by the League.

Cook Company Gets Terminal Work Contract

The City Council has accepted the bid of the George Cook Construction company for completion of the general contract work on the new Air Base terminal building at a cost of $138,751.

Bids on other contracts, plumbing, electric wiring, heating and ventilation, were rejected as the total of low bids was $309 above the $40,000 estimate. Those projects will be readvertised with bids to be received Jan. 14 on a new estimate of $48,500.

According to Architect Selmer Solheim, bids on the mechanical contracts, if below the new estimate, will mean the terminal will be constructed within the $185,000 overall estimate. The building will be as originally planned with a marque, automatic heating, Bedford stone and Roman brick exterior, tiled toilets and kitchen and adequate basement space.

The new terminal will be completed by Aug. 31. As explained by Councilman Chauncey W. D. Kinsey, chairman of the city's reactivation committee, there is now no hurry on the terminal as United Airlines is moving into temporary quarters where they can stay until the new terminal is finished.

Everest Explorers Report 'Snowman' Attacked A Porter

NEW DELHI (INS)—Swiss explorers reported Monday that a Nepalese porter attached to the recent Mount Everest expedition was attacked by one of the mysterious "snowmen" who supposedly live on the roof of the world.

The Swiss told newsmen in New Delhi, after their expedition failed to scale Everest, that a native carrier was seized by an "abominable snowman" while he was standing below the Lhotse Glacier, 27,890 feet above sea level.

According to the Swiss, who could offer no other evidence to support the story, the "snowman" fled when the 14 other porters came to their comrade's aid.

The "snowmen," variously reported as men and beasts, have long been a part of the legend of the forbidding Himalayas.

Amendment Of City Charter To Require Some Early Action

City Attorney C. Russell Mattson has advised the City Council of the need for early action leading toward the submission of charter amendments to a vote of the people at the coming city elections.

The Council, advised Mattson, should appoint a committee now to review the charter and make recommendations for amendments. Action is needed now, he explained, to get the amendments in from for placing on the April ballot.

Mattson cited as examples of needed changes an amendment to raise from $500 to $1,500 the limit on a single purchase the Council can make without asking for bids, extension of the city's control over shrubs in parkways and various changes in regard to zoning.

Its Place In The Sun

Year in and year out in the last 15 years, the 10 states in the Missouri Basin, including Nebraska, the only one of the 10 wholly in the basin, have produced more than a third of the crop of winter wheat, nearly a half of the total American production of rye, more than a fourth of the nation's corn, a third of its barley and nearly a fourth of its oats. These same states produced a fifth of the nation's meat animals—cattle, hogs and sheep.

Not by way of criticism but as a statement of fact, undoubtedly the new 14-man Agricultural Advisory Committee announced Sunday by President-elect Eisenhower after conference with his designated Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, will want to examine the production factors closely. It is a matter of life and death, figuratively if not literally, for a basin which embraces a sixth of the total land area of the United States. These states have made remarkable progress in the last 10 years. Their progress cannot be credited to politics. Since 1940 they have achieved a miracle in production—mountains of grains, adequate beef, pork and mutton—not only to support the people within the basin many times over, but to contribute substantially to the food supply of the American people and masses living in distant lands.

They have done this with the incentive provided by profitable prices for agricultural commodities. It would be wrong to suggest that the dollar itself is the sole and only inspiration for the fields of wheat, corn and other small grains. Something in pride of production, the swelling pride with which any farmer surveys a magnificent field of grain or looks upon prize livestock, is inherently a part of the story of American agriculture. That pride of achievement has not belonged to any single generation of American farmers. It is a part of the soil, a throbbing undercurrent of rural life, one of the contributing factors to the sense of peace, contentment and well-being out on the farm.

The point is that this great contribution of war-filled years has been possible because the farmer has received a just portion of the nation's income. He has enjoyed a prosperity other American farmers of earlier years did not have. It has enabled him to establish better living standards for his family. Some of the modern conveniences of life, notably electricity, have come to him and to his family. He has been in the position to increase his effectiveness through the acquisition of better equipment. He has had a measure of elasticity in his farm program that removed to some degree the grinding pressure of the treadmill.

Among those 14 representatives to the Agricultural Advisory Committee is a Nebraskan, capable, energetic and highly respected Chris Millis, president of the Nebraska Farmers Union. Mr. Millis is the first Nebraskan named to a post of responsibility in the incoming administration. Although active in the Farmers Union, he is in essence a dirt farmer, with genuine first-hand knowledge of the problems which confront the farmer.

The advisory committee named by the President-elect, and to be supplemented, it is indicated, by recruits from other farm agencies and organizations, is representative of the country. Production is not solely the only factor affecting American rural life. There are matters of effective marketing, farm credit, improved methods looking towards the care of the soil. Farming is in itself an industry involving many facets. But there is one inescapable reflection. The basin states are the newest, the most virile, the greatest contributors today to American farm production. In the next 50 years these states within the Missouri Basin in even a greater sense will continue to be the backbone of American agriculture.

A new look, or re-examination of prevailing policy, always is in order. Basically, however, it should be recognized at the beginning that within these last 10 years, abundant rains, plenty of sunshine, big harvests, and fair farm commodity prices have all contributed to the golden age of American agriculture. Anything undertaken should be designed to encourage it and to perpetuate it.

Not Too Far Ahead

We commend to the thoughtful reader the column by Mark Childs which appears on this page.

It discusses Winston Churchill's impending visit to the United States. Mr. Childs pulls no punches. He points out that a great war leader is not necessarily the right architect for years of peace. He suggests what has been well known to most American newspapermen and yet has gone unpublished—namely that Churchill hangs on by the skin of his teeth. Perhaps the revolt against Churchill already would have toppled him from power except for the division between different groups of British Labor.

Crosby's Appointments

Young Governor-elect Bob Crosby in a limited public career has never given the impression that he is steeped in partisanship. He is and he has been a working Republican but at all times he has seemed capable of rising above a narrow partisanship.

It was somewhat of a surprise, then, to discover Mr. Crosby quoted in the news columns as saying in connection with an appointment to fill the post of State Labor Commissioner that he could not pick a Democrat. If there are no capable Democrats, then Mr. Crosby surely should not appoint one. If there are equally capable, experienced Republicans, naturally his choice of a Republican would be understood.

We haven't the slightest notion what the politics of the present Labor Commissioner serving under retiring Gov. Val Peterson is. It is not too important if he has handled the office satisfactorily and has a record of competency behind him. It would be tragic, indeed, if every time there is a change of administration, wholesale changes in key posts as well as in subordinate jobs are to be anticipated. We spend a lot of money training people to fill a job. In a few weeks or months, they become acquainted with the duties of the job. And then along comes a change of administration and although the people who pay the bill for government have an investment in experience, that investment is sacrificed to bring in new faces.

If every two years we are to start from scratch, the majority of agencies will have someone or several trying to master the job, only to be replaced within a few months. If an individual cannot learn by experience, it was a mistake to appoint him in the first place. If he has increased his effectiveness by experience, it is a mistake to replace him simply to make room for someone else who has an inside road to the job.

15 Years Of Occupation

The people of Austria are becoming more restless with the four-power occupation of their land, and trouble may be brewing in that spot where East meets West. Following seven years of occupation by German troops, Austrians have experienced — not without increasing anger — eight more years of foreign soldiers from the United States, Britain, France and Soviet Russia within their borders.

The representatives of Austria reflect the mounting tide of public opinion against the occupation which has dragged on with no end in sight since Austria's "liberation" in the closing

Shakespeare Had A Word

More than the usual number of "leaks"—that journalistic device in which administration policies are brought to the public by a devious route—has occurred in recent weeks. Usually the "leak" is a quote attributed to "some of Eisenhower's closest advisers," or to "a source close to the President-elect." The frequency with which they have followed one another led a Washington columnist to quote another source—Shakespeare, Turning to "Henry IV," Part 2, which opens with a speech by "Rumor," painted full of tongues, the capital correspondent cites these lines:

"Rumor is a pipe
"Blown by surmises, jealousies, conjectures,
"And of so easy and so plain a stop . . .
"The still-dissident wavering multitude
"Can play upon it."
Times do not change when it comes to "leaks."

And Other Isms

When it comes to throwing around charges loosely, Sen. Joe McCarthy could take a lesson from the Communists. When Andre Marty, once the secretary of the French Communist party, was read out of the organization recently, he was charged with fractionalism, deviationism, opportunism, Gaullism, cosmopolitanism, Trotskyism, adventurism, confusionism, schematism, Blanquism, Ginguinism, phillistinism, pseudo-leftism and liquidism.

Everything, in other words, except Communism.

What we are seeing, then, is the curtain falling slowly upon Churchillian leadership. Shortly after the coronation ceremonies, the premier will step down, Childs suggests. And then it will be a matter of picking up the pieces. It will take a lot of picking up to fill the gap left by the departure of a personal government of the character Churchill created.

What we are interested in, then, is not the Britain of a brief interlude but the Britain that is to be—good and understanding friend or a Britain dominated by the cold suspicion and dislike of one element of Labor.

Dr. Karl Gruber, Austrian Foreign Minister, pulled no punches when he spoke last week on the present stalemate in negotiations for a treaty which would end the occupation. He referred to the "endless stalling and delaying" of the Kremlin and demanded "simultaneous withdrawal of all occupation forces."

"Had it not been for the generous aid of friendly nations, and in particular the United States of America," Dr. Gruber said, "Austria would have been an economic wreck today."

Our State Department has never wavered in its position that withdrawal from Austria is desirable, but only if the Russians take out their troops at the same time. Any other position would be suicidal. The Russians have hoped to exhaust our patience, but what they have done is make an implacable foe of the people of Austria, who have learned first-hand what it means to live under the shadow of Communism.

A Hot Maine Potato Lands In Lap Of GOP

WASHINGTON — When Gen. Eisenhower first asked George Humphrey, head of the Giant M.A. Hanna Holding Corporation, to become secretary of the treasury, Humphrey told him that he wouldn't be able to take the job for more than two years.

"Well, that's all right," replied Eisenhower, "but you wouldn't leave me in the middle of a crisis, would you?"

"No," laughed Humphrey, "I would leave before the crisis arrived."

"If you're that smart," concluded Eisenhower, "I certainly want you to be on my team."

HOT MAINE POTATO
The Ike administration has a hot potato dumped in their lap in the form of conitric, humble Owen Brewster, the defeated GOP senator from Maine, one-time vigorous opponent of Eisenhower.

Brewster, who has lived in the nation's capital for something like a quarter of a century, now doesn't want to go back to Maine. He wants to stay here and be a part of the Ike administration. Specifically he wants to be assistant secretary of state.

To this end, the retiring Senator from Maine has been on the phone getting the support of old friends and has sent word to the man who defeated him, Senator-elect Fred Payne, that he, Brewster, would retire from the Senate on Dec. 31, giving Payne a chance to step in and get seniority ahead of other new senators—provided Payne, in turn, would endorse him to be assistant secretary of state.

Faced with this supplication from the retiring senator from Maine, the Brownell boys—who are handling Ike's jobs—dumped the hot potato into the Senate's lap. In brief they told Brewster to get the support of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, whom he once tried to defeat, and Payne, who defeated him.

This procedure was exactly the opposite of what Brownell did in the appointment of Martin Durkin as secretary of labor. In that case, not only was Taft not consulted, but Everett Dirksen, Republican senator from Illinois, from which Durkin comes, was not consulted.

Reason No. 1 for dumping the hot potato is that Brewster has become known as the Senate spokesman of Dictator Franco; also the spokesman of Pan American Airways; and a Senate proponent revealed that he had been mixed up in tapping the telephone wires of Howard Hughes of Trans World Airlines on behalf of competing Pan American Airways.

Reason No. 2 for being coy about Brewster is that he was vigorously for Taft, and is credited with attempting to smear Eisenhower as "Stalin's stooge." This smear was first printed by the Partisan Republicans of California. Later at a meeting at the home of Sen. Brewster, Ralph Masterson, chairman of Maine's Republican State Committee, pro-

British Rumor Repeats Churchill To Step Down

WASHINGTON — The comforting theory that three or four heads of state can sit down around a table and heal the break in a divided world has been given an airing over the holidays. This conforms to the wishful hope of most of humanity that by some magic the fearful tensions and troubles of the time can be swiftly resolved.

The question-and-answer routine with Stalin is a familiar one. We can have no way of knowing how many sets of questions have gone unanswered. But apparently when it suits the propaganda purposes of the Kremlin—and the news lull over the Christmas holiday was an opportunity not to be missed—some answers are broadcast. Those in response to the inquiry from the New York Times were a carbon copy of the expressions of peace and good will voiced in the past.

The forthcoming visit of Winston Churchill adds to the hope that great men meeting together can pull off a solution. It is demonstrable that the personal leadership of Churchill in the darkest days of the Nazi victories in 1941 more than anything else helped to rally the free world.

But the situation today is utterly different. It is time for plain speaking about the role of Churchill and the Churchill government.

That government is stronger than it was six months ago. It has managed some betterment of Britain's position. But the improvement can be ascribed in large part to the fact of a contrast with the divisive weakness in the Labor party, which offers the only alternative to the Churchill government. While Anurin Bevan has been unable to capture control of the Labor party, he has weakened the position of the Attlee-Morrison faction standing for close collaboration with the United States in NATO for western security.

Concealed by his enormous prestige both at home and abroad, a kind of revolt has never ceased to smolder within the Churchill cabinet. It has its origin in the resentment of younger men who believe that the problem of seeing Britain through the present crisis is too big to be carried under Churchill's hat. It is, in short, a revolt against personal government. As one distinguished British visitor put it:

"There is no doubt that it is personal. But whether it is government or not is something else again."

posed that the smear be mailed throughout the state, with GOP state funds used for mailing it.

As a result, Sen. Margaret Smith went on a state-wide radio network to denounce the "Stalin's stooge" smear and vigorously defended Eisenhower.

Later Brewster made a statement that he knew nothing about the smear; claimed he was out of the room when Masterson, during the meeting at Brewster's home, proposed that it be distributed.

All of which leads Eisenhower advisers to figure that though the state of Maine raises a lot of potatoes, this is the hottest one ever dumped in their laps.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE
V. K. Krishna Menon, Indian ambassador to the U.N., has been interviewed by expert newsmen, has participated in vital U.N. debates. But it took two college students to make headlines with his real views on the U.S. and Korea. Helen Jean Rogers, graduate of Catholic University and Elmer Paul Brock of LaSalle College, were the two who quizzed Menon so thoroughly on Ruth Hag's Junior Press Conference TV program that U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles protested to the Indian government against Menon's remarks. He stated that the United States was sabotaging the Korean peace. . . . Menon had hoped to succeed Nehru as Prime Minister of India, but this should puncture that ambition. . . . The Czechoslovak legation has just bought twelve short-wave radio sets at $480 apiece. They can tune in on Prague easily. . . .

ARGENTINE FASCISM
Sen. Ralph Flanders of Vermont came back from a trip to Argentina recently with the impression that that country was becoming Nazified.

"I had the feeling," said Flanders, "that I was seeing the Nazi thing all over again." He conceded, however, that "Peron is much more attractive than Hitler ever was."

Flanders told how the members of the Argentine legislature burst into applause or stood up and applauded when they got the signal. If a passage of the speech was particularly significant, they would stand up and shout "Peron! Peron! Peron!" in unison. Peron would acknowledge the demonstration by standing up and bowing.

"At least he didn't shriek at them like Hitler," Flanders remarked gleefully.

The demonstrations, according to Flanders, always started in the same corners, and the whole legislature followed the example of a couple of key members. They acted as sort of cheer leaders without being too noticeable.

The senator said he spotted "one stout lady with a satisfied smile on her face" who set the pace for the applause in her corner.

Asked if he visited with Peron, the senator from Vermont said: "I knew he had nothing to tell me that I would believe, and I had nothing to tell him that would interest him."

A 15-Year-Old Travels To Be A Disc Jockey

By JOAN KRUEGER
Star Staff Writer

Simply traveling 40 miles each weekend for a two-day radio broadcasting job isn't enough for 15-year-old Bill Armstrong of Lincoln. In addition, this high school junior while there sleeps in the station on what he calls a "springless" cot.

A Northeast High School student, Bill has been on the air waves with his own radio programs for more than five years. He leaves by bus each Friday after school for Beatrice where he spends the night in order to be ready for a 6 a.m. broadcast Saturday.

He broadcasts intermittently until 7 p.m., taking over again Sunday morning and returning to Lincoln Sunday night.

Bill, president of his class and a high school debater, was just 10 years old and a fifth grader at Fremont when he began his first disc jockey program. At that time he had his own program each Saturday afternoon. He seldom used a script, a practice he continues today with two of his own record programs.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong of 5141 Randolph, moved to Lincoln about two years ago, but Bill spent last summer in Fremont with a full-time broadcasting job.

BILL ARMSTRONG
... before news broadcasting, college and a law degree ...

News broadcasting is preferred by Bill, who hopes eventually to specialize in the field. But this comes after college and a law degree, he explains. In addition to his other activities, Bill plays the cornet in the high school band, serves as secretary of the National Forensic League and is a member of Masque and Gavel, a national speech honorary.

The People Speak

White Christmas

Marianas Islands
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It seems only a short while ago that I was sitting at a Star desk trying to type out a story or two. I am now engaged in the same type of work at a slightly different location. At the present time I am working for the Marianas Mariner, a two-page daily newspaper published by the Navy. We print over 3,000 copies each day, distributing the paper to the various naval commands on the island.

The island itself—although I'm no artist—is an artist's paradise. Besides many military points of interest—installations, old Japanese landing fields, battlefields and modern equipment such as the USS AFDB-1, the world's largest floating drydock—there are many scenic views found on Guam only. Although I can't say I enjoy my stay here, or the reason for it, I can't deny the beauty of the place.

The island is green the year around and at the present time, the holiday season, the flowers are in full bloom. We, too, though in a slightly different manner, are having a white Christmas in spite of our lack of snow. Ours is a coral white Christmas!

JACK POLLOCK

A Vote For Christmas

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Now that Christmas has come and gone, I recall that in November, 1952, by a majority of 6,600,000 we killed Santa Claus and hereafter his name is "Ike." But we still cast our vote for Christmas. We vote for tinsel trees and plum pudding, for children's happiness ("Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus") and family love and laughter. We are for wise men and Yuletide lore. We vote against Herods and Pilates and Caesars. We stand for a Baby for whom a star stood still and who grew to be mightier than Herod!

BRUTUS HISTORICUS.
Lincoln, Neb.

The Way Of Taxes

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: That a retail sales tax proposal will make its appearance before the coming legislative session is a foregone conclusion. Only as a replacement tax will it be acceptable and even then, depending upon the kind of tax to be replaced.

We have the ugly picture now of taxing the people for one thing and then spending the money for something else. The head tax has become an additional tax, like the cigarette and liquor taxes. We learn that $3 1/4 million of such taxes are to be credited to the general fund as a surplus from the assistance fund, which is three-fifths of the entire savings of the Val Peterson administration. And what happened to make that saving in assistance funds? Under his administration dental and optical care, as well as appliances, have been taken away from the provisioning of the aged.

Easy enough to create a surplus if sufficient denials are made the aged!

What should a legislature do about a sales tax? Let a 2 percent sales tax be dedicated to state assistance—every cent of it, but still they hold on for dear life.

Will the legislature be influenced by the minority will of these politicians, or by the will of the majority of the good people of this state?

2 Asian Leaders Plan Talk

Rhee And Yoshida To Meet In Tokyo

TOKYO (Tuesday) (INS) — A dramatic meeting between aged leaders of two feuding Asian neighbor nations appeared in the making today with a fighting American general in the role of peace-maker.

A Japanese government spokesman confirmed that tentative plans have been made to bring South Korean President Syngman Rhee and Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida together informally in Tokyo next Tuesday.

Dr. Rhee, accompanied by Mrs. Rhee, is scheduled to arrive in Tokyo by air from Korea Monday to spend "a few days" as the guests of Gen. and Mrs. Mark W. Clark.

The trip was officially described by a ROK spokesman in Seoul as a friendly visit "with no political significance of any nature attached."

Yup to Accompany Rhee

A Pusan broadcast by the government-operated South Korean radio, however, said last night that the presidential couple will be accompanied by Lt. Gen. Paik Sun Yup, Japanese-trained chief of staff of the ROK army.

And in Tokyo, Deputy Premier Taketora Ogata said that in addition to Yoshida, Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki was also expected to meet President Rhee.

Ogata made it plain that Japanese authorities hoped that the projected interviews will help smooth the ruffled feelings between the Japanese and ROK governments.

Gen. Clark's headquarters said the plan for Rhee's visit "was coordinated with the appropriate Japanese authorities," suggesting the existence of a three-way understanding on the visit.

Free Asian Quits

A successful meeting between Rhee and Yoshida could have a far reaching influence in bolstering the unity of free Asian nations and strengthening their common front against Communism.

Confronting the conferees, however, is a half-century of mutual hatred and mistrust. Rhee himself is a successful symbol of the Korean people's fight to free themselves from Japanese domination.

Of immediate concern is the problem of breaking an eight-month deadlock in diplomatic negotiations for a treaty of friendship between the two countries.

The discussions broke off on a note of mutual anger after Japan laid claim to "residual property rights" in Korea.

Court Denies Mandamus To Lower NPPS Rates

Judge Refuses Dismiss Case

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP) — District Judge J. J. Nisley refused Monday to issue a peremptory writ of mandamus ordering the Nebraska Public Power System to grant consolidated billing and thereby lower rates to eight Nebraska cities.

The petition for the writ was brought by the League of Nebraska municipalities seeking to act as agent for the cities involved. The effect of the writ would have been to give the cities the same lower rates as are now given the Consumers Public Power District and Rural Electrification District.

Although he denied the writ Judge Nisley did not rule on a motion to dismiss the suit entered by M. E. Crosby attorney for the Nebraska Public Power System. He took the motion under advisement.

He also took under advisement a motion by counsel for the League that the individual cities — North Platte, Lincoln, Holdrege, Minden, Cozad, Bertrand, Smithfield, and Loomis — be made parties to the action along with the League.

Judge Nisley denied the writ on the grounds that although there appeared to be some evidence of discrimination in rates he did not feel that the League was an organization qualified to bring the action. He said he also felt that the resolution giving the league power to contract for power in their behalf for electricity was within the power of the cities. Most of the afternoon session consisted of argument over the League's qualification to represent the cities.

Monday morning the Consumers Public Power District asked permission to intervene in the action, contending that if the League should get consolidated billing the resultant lower rates, about 55 per cent of the loss in revenue to NPPS will have to be absorbed by the 350 cities served by the CPPD.

The League was represented by E. B. Perry and R. R. Perry of Lincoln.

Appearing for NPPS were M. E. Crosby and James E. Leininger. Leininger presented the NPPS answer to the petition, highlighted by these contentions:

That the League, although a corporation, is not a business organization and has no facilities or experience in distributing power and therefore should not be recognized as a customer of the League and is not within its legal rights in going into the power business, and that the eight cities involved do not have authority under Nebraska law to authorize the League to buy power for them;

That the mandamus action is out of order because NPPS has never refused electric service to the individual cities, and that the League has never asked NPPS for power service under rate schedules other than the one covering consolidated billing.

Convict Files Union Pacific Damage Suit

DES MOINES (INS)—A convict at the Fort Madison, Ia., penitentiary today filed a one million dollar lawsuit against the Union Pacific Railroad in Polk County District Court, in Des Moines.

The plaintiff, Robert Pointdexter, claimed in his petition that he was beaten and threatened by an employee of the railroad, represented in Council Bluffs, Ia., by the Greyhound Bus Company.

Pointdexter is serving a 25 year sentence on a robbery charge filed in connection with the holdup of the Council Bluffs Greyhound Bus station last February 19.

The convict claims a man identified as F. A. Fimmel, working as a special agent for the bus line, beat him, threatened him and forced him to sign a confession under duress.

Pointdexter said he was window shopping for an "inexpensive ring" for his fiancée nine days after the robbery when Fimmel approached him and stuck a gun in his ribs.

He alleged $20 was taken from him before he was taken to the Council Bluffs police station and beaten. Pointdexter asserted that Fimmel poured a soft drink over his head, kicked him, threw a lit cigarette at him and ridiculed his race.

The suit further claimed Pointdexter was intimidated and forced to confess the holdup when arraigned on Feb. 29.

He also said Fimmel told him

Omaha Woman Raped, Beaten

OMAHA (AP) — A 35-year-old Omaha woman reported she was kidnapped, assaulted, raped and robbed by two men who accosted her early Monday. She was later released.

She was taken later to County Hospital suffering from mouth, head and knee bruises and shock. Doctors said she had been "handled very roughly."

Detectives said the woman told them she had returned to Omaha from a Christmas trip to Auburn and then went directly to the YWCA to chaperone an Offutt Air Force Base dance.

She left the dance and was walking toward her home after leaving a bus when the attack occurred.

William Halpenny and his mother were awakened by her screams and Halpenny said he saw a man forcing the woman into a coupe. He called police. Two hours later Halpenny found the dazed woman wandering down the street after her release.

She was quoted as saying the car pulled to the curb shortly after she left the bus and one man got out saying "I'll see you tomorrow." She assumed he lived nearby.

She said the man suddenly grabbed her, beat her with his fists and she was dragged to the car. She said she was held in the back seat while the car was driven into the country where she was forced to disrobe. Then each man

Crop Expert Says MSA Paying Off

OMAHA (AP)—A crops expert just back from Greece says Mutual Security Administration aid there is beginning to pay off.

The expert is Robert W. Hughes, a former Omahan, who is visiting here.

Hughes had been in charge of wheat and olive oil production in Greece. He and 40 members of the MSA staff were able to pull out after a year and turn the program back to the Greeks.

Hughes said in the year he was there, Greek farmers increased their wheat crop from three-fifths of the country's needs to five-sixths of its needs.

He attributed the increase to better seed, better fertilizer and "a little more co-operation from the weather."

'53 LICENSE IS TAB—Clamping on a tab which will bring your '52 license up to date is Mrs. Ethel Bristol, clerk in the auto license office of Lancaster County courthouse. Car owners must produce personal auto tax receipts before buying the '53 tab—on sale after Jan. 1. (Star Photo.)

1953 License Plate Tabs Fifth Issued By Nebraska

By MARILYN KIRKBEY
Star Staff Writer

For the fifth time in Nebraska history, metal tabs to bring the license plates sold in 1952 up to date will go on sale in counties Friday, Jan. 2.

The tabs were first used in 1920, according to Lyle M. Stover, Lancaster County Treasurer clerk in charge of the license plate division. They were not used again until 1943 and were also used in 1944 and 1947.

Superintendent Owen Boyles of the state Motor Vehicle Division said that the appropriation made by the 1951 Legislature would not have covered the cost of making full-size plates for 1953. The tabs are issued this year because of the material shortage and as an economy measure.

Prices for the tabs are the same as for a plate, however. Passenger car owners, whose cars weigh 2,800 pounds or over, will be charged $5. The price for a car weighing under that will be $3. Truck license fees vary as to the type and weight of the vehicle.

Lancaster County has a store of 48,170 of the black tabs with the yellow "53." The county expects to sell over 3,000 motorcycle and trailer licenses.

Cars which have lost one plate will just have to get along on one plate. No duplicates are available to replace the lost plate.

Boyles said law enforcement officials have been advised that where the number on the plate and tab correspond with the registration certificate, there should be no prosecution for driving with only one plate.

Motorists registering in Nebraska for the first time will be the only persons who will receive full-size plates. However, some of those plates may be used models. Car owners moving from one county to another in the state must turn in their old plates and receive a number in the county and must have their tax receipt and the plates from their original county to obtain new plates.

Lancaster County residents must have their county tax receipts with them when purchasing the new license tabs. Residents of Lincoln will be expected to have both city and county receipts before getting their tabs.

Stover warned that if both receipts are not brought to the office by the purchaser, the certificate will be void.

Omaha Office Loses $50,000

OMAHA (P)—Two young men seen roaming through a downtown building Saturday morning were sought Monday for questioning in connection with the burglary of mail from the building.

Federal and local officers were linked in the investigation of the burglary which apparently involved use of a wire hook to snare mail bundles through a slot.

Police had no estimate of the amount of cash and checks taken in the burglary, but unofficial estimates placed the loss as high as $50,000.

The $50,000 figure would include $28,966.30 in checks which were found in the restrooms and in the court of the Acquila Court Building. The checks were the property of Pillsbury Mills, Inc., which has offices in the building.

Officers said the burglary was discovered Saturday when Dr. Calvin Davis, who has offices in the building, found several checks in the courtyard. He turned the checks over to Arthur E. Stadler of Omaha, Pillsbury branch manager.

Detectives said the mail was fished from mail slots in the doors of various offices. Mail to the offices in the building is delivered in bundles tied with a string. Officers said a wire hook apparently had been used to snare the mail through the slots. There was no indication the offices had been entered.

Stadler expressed belief the mail looted constituted the regular Saturday delivery. Pillsbury's office, he said, is closed all day Saturday.

Under an amendment to the state constitution approved Nov. 4, the Legislature may say how and when a motor vehicle is to be taxed. One of the arguments advanced for the amendment was that it would enable simplifications of the process, so the tax and license fee could be paid in one transaction.

Sen. Earl Lee, Fremont, chairman of the committee which worked for the amendment, has scheduled a meeting here on Jan. 5, the day before the Legislature convenes, to consider motor vehicle tax proposals.

Curtis Man Dies Of Fall Injuries

CURTIS, Neb. (P)—Ottis Schrotberger, about 50, of Curtis died Saturday in a hospital after being injured in a fall at Maywood on Wednesday.

Frontier County Attorney Fred J. Schroeder said Schrotberger apparently backed through a door leading to a cellarway and fell against the side of the doorway injuring his side. The County Attorney said these injuries apparently caused his death three days later.

Bridge Mishap Kills Omahan

OMAHA (P)—Roy Canterbury, 44, Omaha, was killed and three other persons were injured early today in an auto accident on the South Omaha bridge.

Canterbury, a driver for Watson Transfer Company, was dead on arrival at a hospital.

His wife, Maude, 44, was in critical condition with a possible skull fracture, multiple chest fractures and cut tendons of the left hand and a foot.

In fair condition was Mary Ellen Rice, 24, of Omaha. Released after treatment was Merchant Seaman Roderick Neisius, 24, of Pierz, Minn., and Omaha.

Traffic Investigators Robert Gentleman and Charles Reese said the car belonging to Neisius, but driven by Canterbury, was going west from Iowa on the bridge about 3 a.m. when the accident occurred.

They said that about 180 feet from the west end of the bridge Canterbury apparently noted the island warning light and applied the brakes. The car hit an icy patch, struck the island, turned over on its top, then slid to the side of the bridge.

The Nebraska highway toll now stands at 31¢, compared with 34¢ at this time last year.

Two Coloradoans Check Suspects

GERING, Neb. (P)—Scotts Bluff County Sheriff Steve Warrick is attempting to link two men held on worthless check charges at Cheyenne with the passing of several worthless checks at Scottsbluff.

Warrick said he will ask the county attorney to file complaints against Joseph Raymond Pierson, 38, and Albert Cecil Pemberton, 30, both of Sidney and Sterling, Colo., who were arrested by FBI agents at Glenrock, Wyo., last week by FBI agents.

He said Scottsbluff merchants identified an FBI picture of Pierson as that of a man who passed worthless checks totaling $800 here. The checks were written on the "Lewis Drilling Co." which Warrick said does not exist.

More than $4,000 in worthless checks are believed to have been passed by an organized ring in a five state area. Other arrests were made at Sterling, Colo.

'Four-Fifths School Needs Can Be Raised'

Of the estimated $136,922,943 needed for construction of schools to handle Nebraska's elementary and secondary school pupils by Sept. 1, the Federal Security Agency Office of Education estimates that the state has resources to raise about four-fifths the amount.

In a nationwide school facilities survey, the report indicated that there is a deficit of $28,140,172 or 20.55 per cent in Nebraska of the sum needed to provide adequate modern school housing for its students.

The Nebraska figure is part of the national total of $10,000,000 needed to relieve overcrowding in public school classrooms. The office said that states and local districts could produce only $5,800,000 through normal revenue channels, by Sept. 1.

The Young Crowd Has A Party

Last Saturday afternoon was party afternoon for a group of the very young set members—Miss Linda Walt, Miss Nancy Coover and Miss Judy Truell had a tea at the home of Miss Walt.

In the picture, from left to right, we find the three hostesses, Miss Walt, Miss Coover and Miss Truell, greeting two attractive guests—Miss Sandra Ellis and Miss Dallas Hunt.

—listening to Mrs. Gertrude Allen, assistant chief of the division of child welfare, and Mrs. Bernice Katske, child welfare consultant, I learned a number of interesting facts about foster homes for children here in Lincoln.

—a license costs only $1.00 for these homes that must meet certain fire, health, and zoning standards. There are, at the present time, 47 foster homes in Lincoln taking care of about 500 children.

—one out of five women work outside the home and a fourth of these women have children under fifteen years of age who must be put into foster homes (homes where operators receive pay).

—there must be two or more children from different families in these licensed homes, and the number of children permitted in a home is based on the size of the house. There is, however, a limit of seven children in any one home for day care, and a limit of six for boarding care for one "mother." More children can be cared for if the "mother" has assistance.

—a local mother is having quite a trying time with her four-year-old son whose life has been blighted recently because his girl friend (same age) won't marry him. He even wakes up in the middle of the night sobbing about his crushed romance. Mother has tried every remedy even to suggesting that he pretend he doesn't really want to marry Patty—all to no avail. His constant question is, "Why won't Patty marry me?" Love seems to strike at any age!

I like the sign which, it is reported, President Truman keeps in his office. If adhered to, it would seem most appropriate for the Chief Executive's headquarters: "The Buck Stops Here."

Miss Lorraine LeMar, Bride Of Carl H. Rohman On Monday

With only members of the immediate families attending the service, the marriage of Miss Lorraine LeMar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. LeMar of Omaha, to Carl H. Rohman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. Rohman of Lincoln, was solemnized at a 4 o'clock service on Monday afternoon, Dec. 29, at the home of the bride's parents.

Dr. Thomas R. Niven, minister of First Presbyterian Church, Omaha, read the lines before the living room fireplace which was banked with woodwardia and white carnations. A white satin prie dieu was placed before the improvised altar on either side of which were antique bronze candelabra in which were lighted cathedral candles.

Mrs. Neal B. Davis of Rochester, Minn., was her sister's matron of honor, and appeared in a waltz-length frock of iridescent antique green taffeta designed with a portrait neckline in a molded bodice, and a straight, slim skirt. She carried a crescent bouquet of lemon yellow carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Mary Soule of New Haven, Conn., also was frocked in the iridescent taffeta with antique green the predominant tone. Beneath the fitted bodice, with its deep portrait neckline, the waltz-length skirt was fashioned with accented fullness. Her flowers were lemon yellow carnations fashioned into a crescent bouquet.

James L. Welsh Jr., of Omaha served Mr. Rohman as best man, and directing the guests to their places was John Theodasen of Garretson, S. D.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of imported Chantilly lace, patterned with medallions in a rose motif, over heavy satin in the ivory tone. A decollete yoke of illusion slipped into the long, close fitting sleeves of the snug bodice which was ornamented at the front with minute self-covered buttons from the bodice line to the Elizabethan point at the waist. The full, gathered skirt was danseuse length and was completed with deep natural scallops of lace at the hem. Her waist-length veil of bridal illusion was held to the head with a lace cap dotted with seed pearls, and she carried a pinnauc bouquet of feathered white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception for five hundred guests was held at the Omaha club where the receiving line took its place before a wide screen of woodwardia and winter blossoms. The refreshment tables were arranged with blush pink satin cloths and appointed with lighted candles and blossoms. Blush pink satin also covered the table for the five-tiered wedding cake which was topped with silver bells. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. John D. Dising, Mrs. James L. Welsh Jr., Mrs. W. Dale Clark, and Mrs. Farrar Newberry.

Mr. Rohman and his bride will honeymoon in Mexico after which they will return to Lincoln where they will reside at 3147 South street. For traveling Mrs. Rohman wore a rose and brown Davidow suit, with matching hat and brown accessories.

The bride was graduated from Pine Crest school, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and attended Vassar College and Columbia University.

Mr. Rohman was graduated from Phillips Exeter school, Exeter, N. H., and also was graduated from the University of Nebraska and the University of Nebraska college of law. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Tells Date Of Wedding

Miss Alice Westling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Westling, who will be married to Pfc. Mancel McGill, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McGill of Waverly, has chosen Saturday, January 3 as her wedding date.

The ceremony will take place at 8 o'clock at the Havelock Methodist Church.

Miss Westling has chosen Miss Joan Williams as her maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Lorraine Barnhill and Miss Dolores Jones. Ernest McGill will serve his brother as best man and seating the ushers will be Robert McGill and Donald Westling.

No Let Down—Just Build-Up

WE MIGHT say that we have noticed no appreciable let-down following Christmas—and we might add, also, that we know why—there's another holiday coming up this mid-week—and everyone is busy making plans to see the old year out and welcome the new year in various ways.

The Cotillion club, as we already have mentioned, is having its traditional New Year's eve dinner dance. The other morning we gave you an incomplete guest list for the party, and this morning we have names to add—We hear that, in addition to the membership, attending the dinner dance will be Mr. and Mrs. Burkett Van Kirk, Miss Jacqueline Merritt, Miss Mary Desmond, Charles Drake, Ted Fraizer, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ousley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marland of Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Markoff, Dallas, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. David Makepeace, Miss Kathryn Swanson, Pat Gallagher, Miss Jane Traphagen and Ramey Beachly.

And just in case you may have forgotten the committee members who are leading the Cotillion this year, we'll tell you again—Mr. and Mrs. James Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meginnis, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Chapin and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stiner.

BUT WE ALSO learned that there is to be plenty of merry making at the Lincoln Country club, come New Year's eve—Found that there are to be numerous no host dinner groups, and doubtless there will be those who plan to join the throng later in the evening.

In one of the no host dinner eighteens at the LCC on Wednesday evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. George Bastian, Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haynie.

AT A NO HOST table arranged for ten at the LCC on New Year's eve will be Mr. and Mrs. Jay Seacrest, Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Wieland, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas, Mr. and

Mrs. Jack Young and Mr. and Mrs. Murrell DeRan—

Holiday Visitors

Home for the holidays are Lieut. Don Pedersen, who is doing a bit of relaxing after the rigors of pilot training at Kingston, N. C., and the lieutenant's sister, Miss Marilyn Pedersen, Wallace de Brown and Mr. and Mrs. William Edwards.

SOME OF THE young generation will be out and about at the Lincoln Country club on New Year's eve, too—Miss Sharon Sidles and Miss Ann Truman have made reservations for a sixsome table, and although the group is not yet completed we hear that it is to be a no host affair.

THE LEADLEYS—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, are entertaining members of their family at the Lincoln Country club's New Year's eve dinner dance. In their group will be Mrs. Leadley's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Bumstead and their daughter, Joanna of New Orleans; her brother, L. A. Bumstead of Hobbs, N. Mex.; her sister, Mrs. Laurence Farrell of North Hollywood, Cal.; Robert Leadley of New York City, and Dr. and Mrs. Carl A. Bumstead.

THE HOLIDAYS end tomorrow for Walton Ferris Jr., who leaves on Wednesday for Cambridge, Mass., where he is attending the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. And the following Sunday Frederick Ferris will return to St. John's Military school, Salina, Kan., after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walton Ferris.

BUT THINGS won't be too quiet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ferris until after next Monday because Mrs. Ferris' niece, Miss Marjorie Pomeroy, and Miss Karin von Schumann, who came to the States from Germany last September, arrive in Lincoln on Thursday and remain through the week end.

Has Wedding At Deweese

At a double ring ceremony, on Saturday, December 6, at Our Lady of Assumption Catholic church at Deweese, Miss Mary Ann Mazour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Mazour of Nelson, became the bride of Donald D. Biltoft, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Biltoft of Superior. The Rev. Gregory J. Petrus read the lines of the 9:30 o'clock ceremony and also solemnized the nuptial high mass which followed.

Miss Leona Skolka, organist, accompanied the Deweese senior choir, and also played the wedding music.

Miss Kathryn Mazour attended her cousin as maid of bodice which narrowed to a slender waist where it was caught with a series of self-covered buttons. The redingote skirt, extending into a long train at the back, flared open at the front to reveal an underskirt of tiered lace. A white satin half-hat trimmed with lace and seed pearls, held to the head her lace-edged veil of illusion, and she carried a white prayer book marked with white orchids, and a rosary, a gift from the bridegroom.

Jerome D. Mazour of Walker Air Force Base, Rosewell, New Mexico, served Mr. Biltoft as best man and the ushers were Earl Biltoft and Adrian Mazour.

Following the ceremony, a dinner for fifty guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. After a wedding trip to Phoenix, Ariz., Mr. Biltoft reported back to Stephenville, Newfoundland where he is stationed.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white satin and lace for her wedding. Designed in the redingote mode, the satin created a long-sleeved, snugly fitted

Claire Riley Weds Robert Hallock
At Church Ceremony On Sunday

MRS. ROBERT A. HALLOCK

The chancel of the Methodist church at Pierce was appointed with small Christmas trees and candles to form a background for the wedding of Miss Claire Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hubert Riley of Pierce, and Robert Allen Hallock, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hallock of Burwell, which took place on Sunday afternoon, December 28. Sprays of evergreen tied with bows of gold ribbon, marked the processional aisle.

The Rev. George E. Danskin, minister of the Methodist church, read the lines of the 3 bodices featuring off-shoulder necklines and brief cap sleeves. The long skirts were wide and circular. Each wore a band of frock-toned velvet in her hair, and each carried a bouquet of deep gold chrysanthemums. Julie Bryngelson, the flower girl, was frocked in white nylon net over satin, and the candle-lighters, Mrs. Gale Demares of Burwell, and Mrs. John Fisher of Valentine, wore white choir robes.

The bride appeared in a gown of white tulle and lace over satin. A yoke of tulle, contoured with minute pleating, created a high rounded neckline in the fitted bodice which was fashioned of tulle and narrow inserts of lace. The lace fashioned the long, closely fitted sleeves, and was repeated to form a narrow banding for the over-skirt apron, draped towards the back where it extended into a chapel train, over a full skirt of tulle. Her double-tiered veil of illusion was fingertip length, and was held to the head with a Juliet cap of lace ornamented with minute seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Kent C. Kelley of Beaver City served Mr. Hallock as best man, and the ushers were Gale E. Demares, Burwell; and John Fisher of Valentine.

For the reception, held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony, the refreshment table was centered with a tiered wedding cake, and appointed with tall candles tied with gold ribbon and winter greenery.

Following a honeymoon trip, for which Mrs. Hallock wore a wool frock in the dusty brown shade, and pale blue topper, Mr. Hallock and his bride will reside in Lincoln. Here both are attending the University of Nebraska college of pharmacy.

Mrs. Hallock is a member of Kappa Epsilon, an army sorority, and the bridesmaid, a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, also is a member of Kappa Psi, pharmacy fraternity.

On New Year's Eve,
when it's "one for the road,"
be sure it's coffee!

Yes, you can say that again! That's a good New Year's resolution to put into effect right now.

Everyone knows that driving is dangerous enough both on the open road and in city traffic . . . and especially so on holidays.

So be safe and sensible on New Year's Eve. When a genial friend says, "Come on, pal, have one for the road," be sure you say, "MAKE MINE COFFEE!"

For coffee gives you a clearer head and clearer eyes for driving. Coffee makes you more alert for quicker reactions. Coffee doesn't let you down.

Psychologist Blasts Idea 'Mom To Blame' For All Child's Troubles

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A woman psychologist Monday lambasted the idea that "mom is to blame" for all of a child's troubles and ills. Psychologists write a lot about childhood psychology, but practically nothing about the psychology of parents, she said. Parenthood is just a developmental stage, "between childhood and old age," declared Dr. Jane Loevinger of Washington University, St. Louis, in an address to the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Coming to the defense of sometimes over-criticized mothers, Dr. Loevinger cited five statements buttressing her argument that there's too much emphasis on a mother-blaming complex. 1. "Parenthood has never been recognized officially as a branch of psychology, nor as a normal development stage." 2. "Child psychology is one of the most intensively cultivated branches of psychology; the 'psychology of parents' is virtually non-existent." She quoted one psychoanalyst who says that "babies control and bring up their families as much as they are controlled by them." 3. "Research on parents has been concerned almost exclusively with their goodness as parents, as if to say that parents are of interest only for the sake of the child." 4. "In the study of mothers, there has been extraordinary preoccupation with the concept of 'maternal rejections.'" But she added, "almost every child believes, at some time or other, that what is wrong is that 'my mom doesn't love me enough.'" 5. "Literature written by psychologists for parents emphasizes 'the rights of infants,' the obli-

Calls Go Out To Congressmen To Meet For Party Caucuses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Calls have gone out to Republican and Democratic members of the new Congress to meet here next Friday and choose their leaders. The 83rd Congress convenes at 11:00 (CST) on the following day, Jan. 3. In addition to organizing the House and Senate, the victorious Republicans will parcel out hundreds of political patronage jobs, and the Democrats will fight over what's left. Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio is expected to be named majority leader of the Senate by the Republicans. Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire is the likely choice for temporary president, and Sen. William Knowland of California is slated for Taft's former place as chairman of the GOP Policy Committee. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts is expected to continue as whip, or assistant floor leader. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic whip last session, is expected to become his party's floor leader, with votes pledged from 39 of the 47 Democrats. Sen. Earle C. Clements of Kentucky is being mentioned for Democratic whip. Apparently neither side sent notice of the organization meeting of mothers to satisfy their children's needs, but without telling the difference between the child's needs and rights.

Seal Sale Drive At $16,612 Mark

Christmas Seal returns over the holiday week end brought the total for the Lancaster County Tuberculosis Association up to $16,612 or 90 per cent of the $18,500 goal, Dr. O. V. Calhoun, association president reported. Normally about 10 per cent of the people pay for their Christmas Seals after Jan. 1, when they pay their other bills, Dr. Calhoun said. "We have reason to hope that our 1953 budget will be met by these late returns, making it possible for us to continue our full program of tuberculosis control which includes the chest X-ray survey, tuberculin testing in the schools, year round health education, rehabilitation and research."

Major Schroeder Dies; Was War Ace, Pioneer In Aviation

CHICAGO (AP)—Maj. Rudolph W. Schroeder, 66, pioneer in high altitude flying and a World War I ace, died Monday in Hines Veterans Hospital in suburban Maywood. Schroeder, who retired several years ago, became ill Christmas Day at his Chicago home. The veteran flier in 1920 reached the unprecedented height of 38,180 feet in a plane not equipped with modern equipment for high altitude flights. His eyelids froze shut and the craft fell six miles before he regained control. A vice president of United Air Lines and former assistant director of the Bureau of Air Commerce, Schroeder was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross in 1945 for altitude test flights that provided data "Responsible in large measure for the success of the Army Air Force in World War II."

Automatic Ejection Seat In B-47 Planned

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Air Force has announced it will install automatic ejection seats in B-47 Stratojet bombers. The bombers, which are being manufactured at the rate of one a day now have an "escape chute" which is satisfactory if the plane is under control, but might not do the job in a spin. The automatic seat is a powered "cockpit capsule" which shoots airmen clear of the plane before they take to their parachutes.

Tech Club In Good Shape

NEW ORLEANS (INS)—Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech seemed satisfied Monday with his Yellow Jackets as they began their final three days of training before meeting Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day.

Dodd brought his undefeated and untied crew direct to New Orleans for its practice sessions. Most coaches prefer to give their teams a final warm-up on the Gulf Coast prior to the game.

The Ole Miss Rebels are training in Biloxi, Miss., from the noise of the big city.

Dodd, however, has a different idea. He explained:

"These kids know what is expected of them and we know we can depend on them. If it relaxes them to walk around and see the sights and hear the noise, that's okay."

The Jackets are in good physical shape, with the exception of two players. Dodd said tackle Bob Sherman is out with a knee injury and will be replaced by Ben Daugherty.

Halfback Leon Hardeman will see only limited action due to an ankle separation.

Ole Miss Unshaken By Tech's Record

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Mississippi respects perfect football records and great teams—but isn't afraid of them.

The underdog Rebels, facing Georgia Tech's unbeaten and untied Engineers in the Sugar Bowl here New Year's Day developed eight victories and two early season ties in an unbeaten year that gave the Rebels seventh place in the national rankings.

Georgia Tech, won second ranking nationally and has not been beaten in 25 straight games.

Tulsa Invades Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (INS)—Tulsa's Golden Hurricane rumbled into Jacksonville Monday for its 'Gator Bowl' date with Florida New Year's Day and Coach Buddy Brothers immediately put the squad through a workout.

A total of 43 men were in the Tulsa party.

The Florida eleven arrived later and all but the seniors went directly to Ponte Vedra Beach. Those who will be playing their last game for Florida Jan. 1 appeared at an alumni luncheon.

Tulsa Trainer W. M. Jenkins reported that he is still treating Linebackers Eddie Lach, Angelo Prassa and Halfback Don Helwig for injuries suffered in the regular season.

Fussy Coaches Prime Teams For Meeting In Orange Bowl

MIAMI (INS)—Football coaches from Syracuse and Alabama prowled about their teams like fussy housewives Monday, making sure that everything was in apple pie order for their Orange Bowl clash New Year's Day.

Neither team has any more rough workouts scheduled, but Coaches Red Drew of the Crimson Tide and Ben Schwartzwalder of the Orange kept their gridders busy.

Drew is faced with the problem of keeping his team on edge, since Alabama is rated a 13-point favorite in the Miami grid classic.

And conversely, Schwartzwalder is taking pains not to goad his chunky squad into nervousness for the first bowl appearance of a Syracuse team.

Alabama worked on pass defense Monday—a department in which they are supposedly lacking despite the fact they limited 11 opponents to an average of 68.6 yards per game through the air this past season.

The Orangemen concentrated on punting, extra-point kicking and protection of the kickers Monday, and also ran through a dummy scrimmage.

Day classic shortened Monday by half a point. Alabama, previously favored by 13½, now is a 13-point choice.

New Hydro Record Set

MIAMI BEACH (INS)—A Miami hydroplane driver Monday smashed a world's record for the 266 cubic inch class in his patched-up California-built craft with a speed of 122.039 mph through Miami Beach waters.

The victory came after a series of misfortunes that seemed to place the craft in the true jinx class, and Driver Lou Nutt Jr. wasn't at all sure he could even race Howard Johnson's Los Angeles Mixmaster.

On Christmas, the boat ripped off a pontoon and tossed the driver into the water. All that night, Owner Johnson and Miami boatmen worked to fix the craft for the morning trials.

Then Nutt thrice exceeded the record on one way trials, but the craft developed engine trouble on each of the required return runs and was unable to throttle up to top speed.

Sunday, the Mixmaster gave up altogether and sank as she was being towed back into the pits after hitting a submerged piling. All last night the crew worked her over, overhauling the entire engine and repairing the bottom.

No Overconfidence In Alabama Camp

MIAMI (AP)—If Syracuse upsets Alabama in the Orange Bowl football game, it won't be because the Crimson Tide is overconfident, says Alabama Athletic Director Pete Cawthon.

It was pointed out to Cawthon that bowl games are old stuff to Alabama, which has played in 10 of them before, and the Tide players might be taking it lightly.

Syracuse, on the other hand, will be playing its first major post season game and is determined to make a good showing.

"Alabama hasn't played in a bowl game since the Sugar Bowl in 1948," Cawthon replied. "None of the players on our squad ever appeared in a bowl. As a result, they have great enthusiasm."

Mulloy Leads Brown In Sugar Bowl Net Meet

NEW ORLEANS (INS)—Rain interfered with the 16th annual Sugar Bowl tennis matches Monday in New Orleans, but not before Gardner Mulloy, top-ranking star in national standings, came from behind to lead Tom Brown Jr. of San Francisco, 2-1.

The Miami, Fla., ace will be gunning for the best three of five sets today when the matches are resumed.

Brown took the first set Monday, 6-4. Then Mulloy bounced back to win the other two, 8-6 and 8-6.

The two will team up after the singles matches to take on Bernard Brant of San Angelo, Tex., and Grant Golden of Chicago in the afternoon.

Santa Clara Will Abandon Football

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—The University of Santa Clara Monday night announced that it was abandoning intercollegiate football after two financially unsuccessful seasons.

The announcement was made by the Jesuit school's president, The Rev. Herman J. Hauck, S.J., who said the decision was "regretfully" reached.

Martinez racks 'Em In Like In 'Good Old Days'

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Real, live people showed up at the Garden's boxing TV studio the other night to see a kid from Paterson, N. J., named Vince Martinez. They even ran buses from Jersey, like the good old days.

Nobody broke down any doors fighting for tickets, but the crowd of 5,954 was the Garden's largest since March when the Paddy Young-Ernie Durando series last was revived.

It must have come as a shock to some of the TV-conditioned customers to find that a little blood sometimes is spilled at the other night with a delegation of 300 from the plant. They sold $4,000 worth of tickets at the factory.

Murray Goodman, International Boxing Club press agent, has tabbed Martinez the "bobby sox idol." He looks the part.

A pro since 1949 with 25 wins in 26 fights (15 knockouts), Young Vince still is a leading candidate for rookie of the year honors because of his sensational spurt in '52. In boxing, it often is difficult to draw the line between rookie and experienced fighter.

In this case, Martinez really hit the headlines during 1952 with his wins over Tony Pellone, Sammy Giuliani and Williams.

But the local following, once the big thing in boxing, is now the exception rather than the rule. That's why Martinez, an exceptionally talented young man, is so different.

First off, young Vincent (now 23) is a good looking lad with dark, wavy hair and brown eyes. Somebody said at ringside the other night he looks like Robert Mitchum and he does, too.

When he's not fighting, Martinez works for Westinghouse Lamp as a draftsman at their Bloomfield plant. Ralph Stewart, one of his bosses, was at ringside the other night with a delegation of 300 from the plant. They sold $4,000 worth of tickets at the factory.

DeSpirito Brings In Four More Winners; Now Needs But Three

By GENE FLOWDEN
MIAMI (AP)—Apprentice Jockey Tony DeSpirito, driving to break the world's riding record of 388, brought in four winners in seven races at Tropical Park Monday and pushed his total for the year to 385 with two days to go.

The nervy little Lawrence, Mass., boy came whirling home to win the first, second, fifth and seventh races. He did not have mounts in the third and fourth, finished out of the money in the sixth and eighth, and was third in the ninth.

"I think I'll break the record now," DeSpirito said, "if I can just get the mounts."

His agent, Norman Sudduth, said he had six mounts for Tuesday "and I'm taking all the horses I can get."

Sudduth pointed out that many owners have their own jockeys or prefer other riders and it is difficult to get horses for DeSpirito in every race.

"I'm not riding as well as I know I can," DeSpirito said as he lay stretched out on a cot in the jockey room between races.

"I'm tense up there and can't seem to loosen up like I should. Usually I don't go to the whip much but now I find myself using it more. I'm not nervous—just kind of tight."

DeSpirito brought in his first winner at Sunshine Park Tampa, last Jan. 22.

The all-time record was set by Walter Miller in 1906 and tied by Joe Culmore and Willie Shoemaker in 1950.

Had it not been for a 10-day suspension imposed on him starting Dec. 12, DeSpirito believes he would already have broken the record. The suspension was brought about when his mount fouled another horse.

Court Releases Reformatory Inmate Because of Defect In Complaint Under Which He Was Tried

Elda M. Stone, 22, Sidney, was released from the state reformatory Monday after it was proved that he was committed under incomplete information on the complaint.

District Judge John L. Polk ordered Stone's release after granting a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Stone was charged in the complaint with two counts—first, breaking and entering, and second, attempting to rob a Gurley poolhall. He was sentenced to serve two years on the first count and five years, to run concurrently with the first sentence, on the second count.

His attorney, Miss Norma VerMaas, based her case on the Nebraska statute defining the offense of robbery. The statute states that robbery is stealing from or attempting to steal from a person.

That technically in a point of law meant freedom for the reformatory inmate.

Judge Polk ordered the immediate release as Stone has served the two year sentence on the first count. He was sentenced in February, 1951, and would have been out on or to rob or steal."

The only other applicable statute covering Stone's offense was a felony entry. However, Miss VerMaas contended that the information did not allege an overt act on Stone's part which would constitute the crime. The felony entry statute reads "feloniously, Two other men were sentenced with Stone at the time. One is serving in the reformatory and the other in the state penitentiary.

Dean Kratz, assistant attorney general, stated that the attorney general's office is considering a possible appeal.

Stone, who plays the trumpet and guitar, told Reformatory Superintendent George Norris that he hopes to continue with his music after his release.

Lt. D. W. Anderson Is Killed In Crash Of Navy Plane In Korea

Lt. Dale William Anderson, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. Torval H. Anderson, 6410 Morrill, was killed last Friday when a Navy patrol bomber crashed off the east coast of Korea, the Navy announced Monday.

The names of the nine other men who were killed and four who were injured when the all-weather PBM plunged into the sea of Japan 50 miles off the Korean coast on Dec. 26 also have been disclosed by the Navy.

His parents first learned of their son's death Saturday from his wife, who is living in Corpus Christi, Tex. Specific location or details of Lt. Anderson's death were not given in the notification. Lt. Anderson and his twin brother, Donald, Walter, both Navy flying officers, visited their parent's home last March—their first joint homecoming in 12 years.

Both had not been home at the same time since they enlisted in the Navy in 1940 at the ages of 17. Dale Anderson was born in Wolbach and was graduated from the Lincoln High School. Both Dale and Donald received their wings in 1943 at Pensacola, Fla.

Dale Anderson was a flight instructor at Corpus Christi during World War II, being sent near the end of the war to Japan where he had a nine-months tour of duty.

After the war he was civilian Link training instructor at Corpus Christi, until February of this year when he was recalled to active duty as a Naval Reserve pilot.

He was sent to Japan last November and had been flying all-weather patrols from a Japanese base for less than a month before his death.

His brother, who remained in the regular Navy as a naval aviator, served in the South Pacific during World War II. He is currently stationed at Corpus Christi.

In addition to his parents, Dale Anderson is survived by his wife, the former Eleanor Tarrant of Corpus Christi, two sisters Elaine, a Humboldt teacher, and Mary Leah, 14, at home; and his twin brother.

The ill-fated bomber's dead, in addition to Lt. Anderson included: Ensign Eugene Bancroft of Chicago, Airman Ernest Newton Franklin, son of A. N. Franklin of Hagerman, N.M., Aviation Electronicsman John Alvin James of Dallas, Tex., and Airman Robert Lee Newman of Springfield, La.

Aviation Electronicsman Robert Lee Newman, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Mae Stanbaugh of Cardiff-by-the-Sea, Calif., and Hubert L.
